

Finally, the shocking truth is revealed...

Why Rocket French Might Not Be For You!

Yes, you read that right. I don't think Rocket French is right for you if you only want to learn how to say "Bonjour" or "Au revoir." I also don't recommend you buy Rocket French if you only want to hear what the French language sounds like.

If you were planning to buy Rocket French for any of those reasons, you might want to think again! The Internet is full of free French content – and if you need something a little more structured, you'll probably be totally satisfied with Rocket French's free six-day Basic French course.

However, if you are looking for a complete French learning course that will help you understand and speak everyday conversational French within two to three months, then I strongly recommend you read my full report and discover why Rocket French might be the perfect solution! You'll even learn why you should take their free six-day course before you buy the complete program! (This revelation alone will save you over $30 – but I'll also show you how to get six MORE free audio lessons, plus an exclusive 3 hour French Audio Course bonus not offered by other websites.)

Since all the other reports you've received are from people who want something from you, let me say for the record that I don't need your money.

In fact I'm risking my own money just to write to you today.

What I would like, however, is to be part of your French learning success, and that's what this truly unusual Rocket French report is all about.

But before I tell you why Rocket French is the best complete French course on the market, let me tell you what makes me different from all the other reviewers singing Rocket French's praise.

The Secret Exposed! Why So Many Review Sites Rank Rocket French As Their #1 Recommendation...

The reason is simple; those other review sites just want your money. They don't care if you learn French effectively; they don't care whether Rocket French is best for your needs or not. Every time someone buys through the affiliate links on their review sites, they get paid big bucks.

The only reason they rank Rocket French #1 is because Rocket French gives them the highest commission per sale – as much as 70-75%. No wonder they're excited about Rocket French!

But how can you trust their reviews if the information they provide you are based on the size of their commission checks and not their knowledge of the product? Obviously, you can't.

Now, Rocket French is unquestionably the best French course on the market, period.

But don't take my word for it. I would rather prove it to you by giving you real facts. For example, I'll happily tell you how you can get the most out of Rocket French by NOT BUYING it through their official home page. Read on and I'll show you a backdoor where you can get Rocket French for less -- plus you'll receive an extra six free audio lessons the other paid members aren't getting, and you don't even need to ask for them.

The Rocket French people will give them to you willingly!

Discover Why You Should NOT BUY Rocket French Before You've Tried Their Free Six-day French Course!

The main reason I don't want you to buy Rocket French through their official home page is that if you do, you'll be missing out on six bonus audio tracks. I've discovered that if you register for their free six-day

French course, you'll receive an exclusive Rocket French subscriber offer that will give you an extra hour and 54 minutes of audio lessons that are not available to customers who buy Rocket French through the official home page.

Why don't the other review sites mention this? One, they don't care. It makes no difference to them how much value you get for your money; they only care how much money they get from you. And two, they don't know it – because they didn't really try the Rocket French course as they said they did in their reviews.

But I did – and what I learned can save you a bundle.

Get a Glimpse What You'll Really Get Out of Rocket French – by Trying These Authentic Interactive French Audio Lessons for Yourself.

Easily learn French from beginner to intermediate level -- where and whenever you like -- with their 31 interactive audio lessons. You can learn French on your PC/Mac at home or on your iPod/MP3 player while you're on the road. You won't be wasting your time and money attending a boring lecture class. Within five minutes of beginning your first audio lesson, you'll be speaking and understanding French – easily!

Illustrated French Grammar Lessons You'll Love Using.

Do you remember learning grammar at school? Fun, wasn't it? Not! And trust me – learning grammar in most classroom settings today wouldn't be one bit more enjoyable than it was then. The only difference is that today, you'd be using your money to pay for the lessons – and what can be worse than paying for something you don't like?

But Rocket French has a whole new approach to learning. The secret lies in its interactive format. The program is composed of 45 illustrated lessons --

411 pages in all -- 788 exercises that you can do whenever you feel like it, and 3,102 embedded audio clips to help you learn French the same way that you learned English when you were small. These lessons provide 90 hours of instruction that is so easy, you won't even realize you're learning.

This alone could have cost you $2,700 in class fees if you were to take 90 hours of French lessons at your local college. Wouldn't you rather use your savings to pay for a vacation in France? With your newfound language skills, you'll feel like a French native when you come home – that is, if you want to come home at all!

But That's Not All!

Find Out About 3 Revolutionary MegaFrench Software Games You Won't Be Able to Resist.

Experience Rocket French's Astonishing 60-day Risk-free Trial Period and Learn French within 8 Weeks, Results Guaranteed!

One of the things I like most about Rocket French is that they offer you a 60-day risk-free trial period for the complete course. You can use Rocket French for two months, and if the program does not deliver as promised, you can ask for a full money-back guarantee.

Now please don't use Rocket French for 59 days and then ask for a refund; that is just plain stealing and you know what happens to thieves. Fortunately, most Rocket French customers are honest people who appreciate the value of a good product, and as a result, Rocket French has a refund rate of less than 1%. What does this mean to you? It means that 99% of customers are 100% satisfied with the product. It means that like them, you'll get what you are paying for -- the best French learning course available on the market.

“I'm planning to live and work in a French-speaking country.
Is Rocket French for me?”

Two months ago I would have recommended Pimsleur French to people who need to gain a thorough, intensive knowledge of French quickly, since Pimsleur used to be the best authentic French course on the market.

However, Rocket French now also has a Combo Offer – the regular Rocket French course plus a “More Rocket French” option -- and if you need “total immersion” in French, I strongly recommend you upgrade to the Combo package. By adding on “More Rocket French,” you'll get an extra 13 hours of audio lessons that you can listen to time and time again, whenever you need to.

The Combo Offer covers absolutely everything you'd need to know to live, study, or work in a French-speaking environment. From getting directions to getting a job, from doing your banking to doing your best in a business meeting, or even simply being able to hang out with your French friends – this is the most complete course on the market today.

(If you just want to learn basic and intermediate conversational French before you go on holiday, don't bother with the upgrade; “More Rocket French” is for advanced learners only.)

I strongly recommend you upgrade to the Combo offer when you buy the normal Rocket French course, because if you do you'll get an extra $30 discount on the whole course. If you compare the audio tracks and price to the Pimsleur French 1 course, you'll find you get 8 hours more authentic French audio lessons for $30.10 less than Pimsleur French 1 would have cost you.

Don't believe me? Have a look at my official audio book site where I've been helping hundreds of people learn a foreign language through audio courses since 2006. Here's the link to the Pimsleur French 1 course provided directly by the publisher, Simon and Schuster. Go ahead – click on it and prove it to yourself.

When you add the other learning features provided by Rocket French, like the software games and the private members' forum, you'll easily see why Rocket French is the best of the best when it comes to learning French in a fun, easy and effective way.

“Dealing with online companies makes me nervous.”

Did you know that Rocket French is affiliated with the ACTFC? That stands for the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages. The ACTFC provides vision, leadership and support for quality teaching and learning of languages. Its stamp of approval assures you that you're using a trusted language learning source.

Rocket Languages is also a certified Fair Trade Authority site, meaning you can buy with confidence from a real online business and not a fly-by-night scam artist.

Here are Some Guidelines on How to Get the Most Out of Your Rocket French Course, Excerpted From the Private Members' Forum. I Thought that You Might Find Them as Useful as I Did.

“Rocket French is a beginner's course in three main components:

- 1) audio lessons, which you listen to;
- 2) textual lessons, which you read; and
- 3) learning games, which you play.

But all three components have one thing in common: each one of them involves your own active participation.

With the audio lessons in the Rocket French Interactive Audio Course, you will add your own voice to the conversations that are the focus of each lesson, both by repeating words to practice your pronunciation, and by saying the correct word or phrase when prompted by your host. These audio lessons come with supplementary written transcripts.

With the textual lessons, which focus on the grammar of the French language and view it in its contemporary cultural context, you will walk through the various steps of how to change articles, adjectives, and verbs, how to build more and more complex sentences, and how to write in French. These text-based lessons are illustrated and contain embedded audio clips for new words and phrases.

With the software-based learning games, you can test your memorization of French words, sounds, and verb changes through dynamic game-play and receive active feedback in real time. By including all of these components, the course caters to many different learning styles, and you are free to explore the course material in whatever way you'd like.

But there are some GUIDELINES that you may want to follow when taking your first steps on the path to understanding and speaking conversational French:

STEP ONE:

Listen to the first three lessons of the Interactive Audio Course. This is the best way to acquaint you with the sound and rhythm of the language, as well as the native speakers Paul and Claire. (Or Eric, Anne and Lauren for More Rocket French.)

For the first time you listen to these first few lessons, we suggest doing so without the written transcripts, so that the focus remains on listening comprehension.

STEP TWO:

Go back and listen to the lessons again. This may sound like unwelcome advice, but you will find that you will often have to go back to go forward when learning any new language. The process is incremental, which means you will only be able to take in so much at any given time. But you will notice not only how much more of the material you recognize, but also how much quicker you pick things up the second time around.

The second time you listen to the Interactive Audio lessons, you should be comfortable enough to refer to the written transcripts of the conversations.

You'll find that your comprehension will skyrocket when you are able to see what the language looks like. Keep in mind, however, that even if you keep the transcript in front of you when you listen, you should always try to THINK of the meaning of what you hear BEFORE you read it (even if that means continually pausing the audio track to give yourself more time for the meaning to appear in your head).

STEP THREE:

When you have found that you can comfortably listen to the audio lessons AND participate in them on cue without getting lost or overwhelmed, then it's time to explore the lessons that make up the Rocket French Grammar & Culture Series.

These lessons dive deeper into the mechanics of the language, and also reward you with relevant explanations about where, how, why, and when to use the language skills that you have gained.

In total, there are 45 lessons in the Grammar & Culture Series, and these correspond closely (but not exactly) to the 31 lessons in the Interactive Audio Course. When you reach the stage where you are confident with the audio lessons, it may be a good time to set yourself a more regimented schedule of progress. For example, you may do one audio lesson plus one grammar lesson each day for a month, or every other day (getting through them in two months).

However strict a path you want to follow, always remember the magic word: incremental. That is, if you decide to set one day aside to stuff your head with five lessons, it is very unlikely that you will retain most of what went into it! Also, even when you are well into the course, you can only make things easier when you go back and listen to the lessons over again. You'll hear your own French accent getting sharper each time.

STEP FOUR:

Get your game on with Rocket French's range of software-based learning games. Even though we've listed this as a possible step four on your fast-track to learning conversational French, you can use these learning games at any time, and especially when you feel like you want a break from sustained listening or reading with regard to the other course material. Because they are so entertaining and easy to use, the MegaFrench games make "motivation" an after-thought.

No matter how "competitive" you think you are, you will find these games a welcome challenge, and gain great satisfaction when you see your score improve each time!

We do suggest you follow one guideline in structuring your learning: Before playing the MegaVerbs game, it would be best to wait until you have completed the first third or so of the Grammar & Culture lessons. Here's why. There are three types of MegaFrench games:

MegaVocab

MegaAudio

MegaVerbs

The first two will allow you to build your vocabulary (MegaVocab) and improve your recognition of spoken French (MegaAudio), and these two games do not require much if any background learning. The MegaVerbs game differs in that it involves the fundamentals of French verb changes. This will be covered in the Grammar & Culture lessons.

STEP FIVE:

A fifth step in the process of learning conversational French with your Rocket French learning package doesn't necessarily DIRECTLY involve any of the materials included IN the package! But it is still a most essential step: PRACTICE and SHARE what you've learned.

We implore you to take what you've learned and practice it in the real world.

Whether that means saying the date and time in French whenever you check it yourself, or teaching your dog commands in French, do whatever it takes!

There is also a fantastic resource to share thoughts and get answers to any questions that may be stumping you: the Rocket French Learner's FORUM. This is a virtual helpdesk where you not only get answers and advice from the Rocket French team but also from fellow learners who are often working with the same material you are.

Even better, YOU can give answers and advice to them, and that's a great way to reinforce your own knowledge. This is in fact the place you are right now.

All the best for your French learning and bon chance!”

“I'm still not convinced I need to learn French. Maybe when I go to a French-speaking country, I could just smile helplessly and gesture a lot...?”

You could. But don't complain when the French speakers treat you like an alien when you're unable to communicate with them. When you can't understand a visitor to your country, you find it frustrating, don't you? Why would you expect French speakers to feel differently?
